|                                | E DOK Alignment Chart HUMAN BOD                                 |  | GE 40-43                |
|--------------------------------|---|--|-------------------------|
| DOK & NECAP                    | GE Statement with Ceiling DOK                                   | Science Concepts   | Examples/Practice Items |
| Release Item Codes             |   |  |                         |
| Enduring Knowledg environment. | e: The human body is unique in its heredity, body sys           | tems and development, and can be                             | e affected by the       |
|                                | S1-2:40 (DOK  | 2) Science Concepts:   |                         |
| DOK 2LS4(K-4)POC -8 | Students demonstrate their understanding of Human               | a. People have different                                     |                         |
|                                | Heredity by   | external features, such as size,                             |                         |
|                                | • Observing and comparing their physical features with          | color of hair, skin, and eyes.                               |                         |
|                                | those of classmates and other organisms.                        | nowever, numans are more like                                |                         |
|                                | Ç   | one another than like other animals.                         |                         |
|                                | S1-2:41 (DOK  |  |                         |
| DOK 2LS4(K-4)POC -8 | Students demonstrate their understanding of Human               |  |                         |
|                                | Body Systems by   | out about their surroundings and                             |                         |
|                                | • Identifying the senses needed to meet survival needs f | meet their needs.  |                         |
|                                | a given scenario.   | or and have not broken surred                                |                         |
|                                | a given scenario.   | their need for food eyes/nose: find food                     |                         |
|                                |   | - legs/hands: get food                                       |                         |
|                                |   | - mouth: eat food  |                         |
|                                |   | c. Senses help people satisfy their                          |                         |
|                                |   | need to avoid danger nose: smell fire                        |                         |
|                                |   | - nose: smell fire- ears: hear danger                    |                         |
|                                | S1-2:42 (DOK  |  |                         |
| DOK 1                          | Students demonstrate their understanding of the                 | a. Some things people take into                              |                         |
|                                | Patterns of Human Health/Disease by                             | their bodies from the environment                            |                         |
|                                | • Identifying things in the environment that could be           | are toxic and can hurt them.                                 |                         |
|                                | harmful if swallowed (e.g., soaps, cleaning solutions,          |  |                         |
|                                | unknown pills).   |  |                         |
|                                | S1-2:43 (DOK 2  | Science Concepts:  |                         |
| DOK 2                          | Students demonstrate their understanding of the                 | a. A human baby grows inside its                             |                         |
|                                | Patterns of Human Development by                                | mother until its birth.                                      |                         |
|                                | • Identifying activities that you can do now that you           | Even after birth, a human baby is unable to care for itself. |                         |
|                                | couldn't do as a baby (e.g., dress yourself, get food form      |  |                         |
|                                | refrigerator, bathe yourself). AND                       | care it receives from  |                         |
| DOK 2                          | • Explaining where babies grow and develop.                     | adults.  |                         |

